

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Vocantas Inc Expands Sales Force
Vocantas announces new Director of Health Solutions

Ottawa, ON, Wednesday, September 23, 2009 - Vocantas Inc., a developer of device free tele-health patient monitoring solutions, announced the appointment of its newest member to join the Vocantas sales force. Josée Healey, as Director of Health Solutions, will be responsible for cultivating opportunities in the Canadian health care vertical.

Josée brings over 10 years of sales experience, most recently in the medical software industry. Prior to joining Vocantas, Josée partnered with hospitals and physicians, based in New York, to oversee implementations involving patient check-in systems.

"I firmly believe that delivering an innovative, IT solution, such as CallAssure™, to the health care environment will contribute to saving lives. It is good to see more and more health care settings are ready to adopt this patient monitoring application."

As demonstrated by the adoption of the Vocantas flagship product, CallAssure, by facilities such as the Ottawa Health Research Institute, Ottawa Thrombosis Unit, and the Kemptville District, the market for IVR solutions is growing. According to the latest market analysis, sales of interactive voice response systems are on the increase. Not only is this change due to enhanced new applications and product innovations, but also because they can supplement the traditional routes of person-to-person communication, appointment scheduling and the quality of patient care provided. The demand for the CallAssure solution is growing as a result.

Vocantas is excited to have Josée as part of the team to grow this emerging marketing. Josee will be based in the head office in Ottawa, ON.

About Vocantas

Vocantas is a developer of device-free tele-health solutions that use advanced computer telephony and speech technology. The company's turn-key solutions offer customizable core features and optional enhancements that integrate seamlessly with existing systems. The Vocantas approach is truly unique by using only the telephone to proactively collect or deliver essential information in support of an individualized care plans. The outreach Solutions assist organizations realize lower costs and significantly increase operational efficiencies.

For more information contact:
Vocantas Marketing Communications
info@vocantas.com
877-271-8853 x.545